GENERAL INFORMATION

The Justice First Fellowship Scheme (JFF) is a prestigious Scheme established to support the next generation of social justice lawyers who want to pursue a career in social welfare law. The Scheme has been established by The Legal Education Foundation (TLEF), in partnership with other funding organisations in the social welfare law sector.

Our Fellowship scheme is open to graduates who are seeking to train and qualify as lawyers in organisations focused on alleviating social justice issues within social welfare law. We hope that the Fellowship Scheme will continue to be seen as a respected route to a career in such an important sector of the legal profession, with Fellows going on to become leaders in their field and important advocates for access to justice and the rule of law.

The Fellowship has three parts:

1. A two-year fully-funded training period in a selected Host organisation with a focus on social welfare law.

2. Alongside their compulsory legal training, Fellows work jointly with their Host organisation to develop an access to justice project in order to gain programme development skills and experience and to provide additional capacity for the Host organisation to develop further their strategic work.
3. Fellows are brought together throughout the two-year period to receive support, training and access to useful networks, and to feel part of a wider movement of lawyers committed to access to justice.

ELIGIBILITY FOR THE JUSTICE FIRST FELLOWSHIP SCHEME

Applicants

Applicants for Fellowship positions must meet the following criteria:

England & Wales: completed and passed the Legal Practice Course (LPC) or a degree-level in any subject and successful completion of Part 1 of the Solicitors Qualifying Examination (SQE).

Scotland: completed and passed the Diploma in Legal Practice/Diploma in Professional Legal Practice (DLP/DPLP).

Northern Ireland: a recognised law degree and be eligible to apply for admission to the Solicitors apprenticeship scheme at the Institute of Professional Legal Studies, Queen's University Belfast commencing in September the following year.

The applicant must be willing and able to commit to remaining at the Host organisation for the duration of their two year Fellowship. The applicant must have demonstrated a commitment to public interest or social welfare law. TLEF is particularly interested in students who wish to effect change in the legal community, such as members of public interest and/or pro bono organisations on campus and those who have dedicated time to serving low-income or less privileged communities either during or prior to law school.

Applicants must be aware that the project is a major component of the JFF Scheme.

HOST ORGANISATIONS

Applying to host a Fellow

Each year, the Foundation runs an open application process to invite proposals from legal and/or not for profit organisations working in the social welfare sector to host Fellows. The selected Host organisations receive a grant from TLEF that fully covers the salary and support costs of employing the Fellow.

Application timetable

The Application timeline is set out on our website:
<https://jff.thelegaleducationfoundation.org/host-opportunities/timeline/>

Eligibility

An applicant organisation has to show that it is:

- committed to, and expert in, different categories of social welfare law
- innovative, effective and thinking creatively about its future sustainability
- involved, in different ways, in work that is of national significance
- registered as training establishments with the relevant regulatory authority

Applications are reviewed by TLEF Governors and organisations that best meet the criteria go on to be selected to be offered a grant.

It is not a requirement but hosts are encouraged as a matter of best practice to register as a Level 1 Disability Confident Employer.

GRANT AGREEMENT ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

TLEF will pay for:

- The salary, National Insurance and any pension contribution.
- A contribution towards supervision costs.
- A contribution towards IT equipment and IT costs for your Fellow
- The PSC or equivalent compulsory training. The PSC is arranged centrally by TLEF.
- For potential SQE Fellowships, in the interim, we will also look to support accessing any preparation courses for SQE Part 2.
- A training budget of £1,500 towards additional training that the Fellow may need (such as OISC).
- An upfront payment of £5,000 for the set-up costs, including your time in recruiting a Fellow.

Professional Skills Course (PSC)

TLEF currently has an arrangement with BPP to provide this course free of charge. Fellows are required when booking the PSC to contact:

CPD Enquiries (0330 060 3200 or email cpdenquiries@bpp.com) and the BPP team will be able to locate your records using your work email address or first and last name.

Justice First Fellows can access PSC information and download Core dates here: <https://www.bpp.com/courses/law/psc-professional-skills-course>

Fellows will need to say that they are a Justice First Fellow and that the training has been arranged through TLEF. Please note that only 2 Justice First Fellows are allowed to attend per course at any one time.

06 INFORMATION REQUIRED FOR TLEF WEBSITE

Once a signed Grant agreement is received, TLEF will require for its website the following information:

1. A Job Description and Person Specification for the JFF opportunity (examples are available on TLEF website). Please divide the Person Specification into Essential /Desirable categories.
2. A brief summary of your organisation (examples are available on TLEF website).
3. A contact email address for any queries relating to the opportunity.
4. A copy of the organisation's logo in JPEG, PNG or EPS format.

On receipt of the above information the Host Organisation will be given a profile page on TLEF Justice First Fellowship website.

The Host Organisations must advertise the JFF opportunity on their website and we strongly encourage that they publicise the opportunity wherever possible e.g. to suitable volunteers, interns, existing staff and other relevant existing contacts and on multimedia platforms Twitter/Facebook etc.

FELLOWSHIP APPLICATION TIMELINE

1. The Fellowship opportunities will be advertised on the JFF website once a signed Grant Agreement is received together with the requested documents set out in the 'Information for TLEF website' section
See our website for details of our next Fellow recruitment timeline, including our application opening and closing dates: <https://jff.thelegaeducationfoundation.org/how-to-apply/timeline/>
2. All applicants are required to fill in an on-line application for the organisation(s) they are applying to.

3. All applications must be submitted through TLEF website. Late applications will not be considered. See website for details.

4. In order to ensure the shortlist selection process promotes fairness and mitigates unconscious bias, Hosts will not have access to the following applicant data when reviewing applications for shortlisting:

- Name
- Email address
- Address
- Post Code
- Phone Number
- Socio economic data

Once the shortlist selection has been made by the host, they will have access to all the data the applicant has provided on the basis that they need this for their own monitoring and recruitment processes.

SHORTLISTING AND INTERVIEW ARRANGEMENTS

Shortlisting

1. TLEF will provide access through an online portal (log in details and password will be emailed to you) to the respective completed applications to each Host. Each Host must select the candidates they wish to interview and inform TLEF of their decision.
2. On an agreed date and once the shortlist selection has been completed TLEF will send an automated email to all applicants informing them whether they have been shortlisted or not. TLEF does not enter into any correspondence with the applicants apart from sending this automated email.
3. The Host Organisations then writes to their selected shortlisted applicants to ask them to attend for interview and at that time request any further information they require (eg CVs).
4. TLEF to be sent copies of the letters emailed to shortlisted candidates.

Interview Arrangements

5. Interviews will take place in accordance with the Fellow recruitment timeline set out on our website:
<https://jff.thelegaleducationfoundation.org/how-to-apply/timeline/>. Please consult with TLEF before confirming your final interview dates as the interview process will involve a member of TLEF executive attending in an observer capacity.
6. Please try to keep the shortlist for final interview to no more than 6 people.
7. Shortlisted applicants must be available to attend for interview. Reasonable travel costs for the interview will be reimbursed by TLEF.
8. When informing the candidate that they have been successful in being shortlisted and arranging the interview please emphasise that the project is a major component of the Fellowship Programme and the candidate will normally be expected to include a short presentation on a proposed project at interview (see section 10 for more information about the project).
9. TLEF should be sent (at least 7 days in advance) a pack of the interview questions and any other information for each of the shortlisted candidates together with a timetable and map/directions.
10. Once interviews have taken place and the successful candidate selected the Host Organisation writes to the candidate confirming the appointment copying in TLEF. The Host Organisation will also be responsible for informing the unsuccessful shortlisted candidates.

STARTING THE FELLOWSHIP

Training Contracts

1. The Fellow should normally start their training contract in accordance with our Fellow recruitment timeline set out on our website. In the case of Northern Ireland, the selected JFF candidate will be appointed a Fellow on a “conditional” basis (the post being conditional on eligibility to apply for admission to the Solicitors apprenticeship scheme at the Institute of Professional Legal Studies).
2. Hosts will be required to provide to TLEF a short bio of the Fellow together with a work email address for the Fellow. Each Fellow will have their short bio and photograph published on the TLEF website:
<https://jff.thelegaleducationfoundation.org/the-fellowship/overview/>.
3. The period of training must be registered by the Host with the relevant regulation authority.
4. If your Fellow has worked as a paralegal it might be possible for them to be exempt from a period of recognised training and thereby they might be able to complete their training earlier. Your Fellow will need to contact their relevant regulation authority for further details.

General

8. All Fellows and Hosts will be invited to a 'Welcome to the JFF' event held one month before the commencement of the Fellowships, overnight accommodation will be paid for centrally by TLEF and travel expenses will be reimbursed on receipt of signed claim form and scanned receipts). At the Welcome event photos will be taken of all Fellows and Hosts for inclusion on TLEF website and use in publicising the Scheme.
9. At the end of June/beginning of July, our JFF Residential will take place outside London. This will involve a 2-3 night stay. Travel expenses will be reimbursed by TLEF on receipt of expense claim form and scanned receipts.

THE PROJECT

The project is an important dimension of the Fellowship, giving Fellows the opportunity to develop wider non-legal skills that will be essential as their careers develop.

It also gives the host organisation some additional capacity to develop a new area of work that could potentially contribute to the salary of the Fellow after TLEF funding comes to an end. We have found that this works best when the project is aligned with the business plan of the host organisation rather than being about developing an area that stands apart from what the organisation is already seeking to achieve. Hosts have successfully used projects in a variety of ways including carrying out researching and scoping needs, services or opportunities for litigation, building new partnerships, developing and testing a new service or method of delivery (e.g. tech), producing reports or guidance on an issue or publicising work in other ways. In some cases, Fellows' projects have contributed to opening up significant new areas of work and securing new sources of funding. Organisations manage the projects in different ways, some give Fellows a specific allocated day in the week and others integrate it more into the day-to-day work. It is important that Fellows are given sufficient time for the project.

As noted in section 8 on interview arrangements, it works well for applicants to be asked at interview to make a presentation on a project idea. Such a presentation is a useful exercise in its own right as part of recruitment in terms of testing preparation and presenting skills. It has also, in some cases, identified an area of work that the successful applicant has gone on to implement as their project. In others, however, the choice of project is the result of a discussion between Host and Fellow. As above, it works well to deploy the Fellow on a project that fits with organisational priorities. At the same time, it makes sense for the project to be something that matches the Fellow's skills and interests.

LOGO AND COMMUNICATIONS

We would be grateful for an acknowledgement of the funding in any communications you produce about the work which The Legal Education Foundation is directly supporting, and acknowledged appropriately elsewhere, for example in annual reports or brochures or if you have a funders page on your website.

Announcing the funding

Please do not publicly announce or publicise the funding until you have formally accepted and signed the Grant Agreement.

We announce what we fund on our website and the funding will also be listed in our Annual Report. We will also begin publishing our grants data through 360Giving. We may also mention our support for your organisation in our publicity material.

Press releases

If you would like to acknowledge our funding in a press release or any other type of media coverage we would ask that you send a copy to us at info@thelef.org for our records.

Logo

You may use our logo appropriately in communications about work we are directly supporting.

The JFF and TLEF logos are available on our website.

INVOICING, REPORTING AND PUBLICITY

Invoicing

A payment schedule is provided in the Grant Agreement. Invoices should be submitted by email quarterly to payments@thelef.org

Automated Reporting System

TLEF has in place an automated reporting system whereby a six monthly update is required on the Fellow's progress. Please note that grant invoices will not be paid if the Reporting is not up to date. The Host Organisation will receive an automated email with a link to an on-line report form. A final report will be required at the end of the Fellowship.

Publicity

Publicity is given to the Scheme via law schools in April/May, Fellows from the Scheme attend law fairs and take part in various talks. We do however expect Host Organisations to make a concerted effort to advertise and promote the Fellowship opportunity at every possible opportunity.

SUPPORT AND TRAINING

Fellows will be employed by the Host Organisation which will be responsible for supervision, support and the welfare of the Fellow through the Fellowship Programme. The wider support, training and opportunities component of the Scheme will be delivered by TLEF and its partners.

Justice First Fellowship – support and development programme

Aims and content

The aims of the support and development programme are to:

- Create time and space for Fellows to come together and feel part of a wider network and movement;

- Introduce Fellows to themes, ideas, practices, issues and people that will help them to develop effective, sustainable projects and organisations;
- Bring together the organisations hosting Fellows to share ideas and to support the Fellows.

This activity sits alongside the two-year period of training and the Fellows' projects as integral to achieving the overall aim of the scheme.

'Fellows will be employed by the Host Organisation which will be responsible for supervising and supporting the Fellow through the Fellowship Programme.'

The support and development programme is principally comprised of:

- Training bringing together Fellows, hosts, TLEF staff, relevant outside consultants and speakers;
- An annual event bringing together all those connected with the scheme;
- Fellows' participation in some selected external events that support learning in other areas of the programme and build their network;
- Provision of support by external consultants funded by TLEF e.g. feedback on fundraising applications;
- On-going informal support provided by TLEF staff as needs arise, for example introductions to relevant people and organisations.
